CHICAGO—After a full week of meeting constituents back home in the district, U.S. Representative Mike Quigley (IL-05) spent the weekend touring neighborhood street festivals. He sampled mouth-watering burgers at Roscoe Village Chamber of Commerce's Burgerfest, stopped by Welles Park for Old Town School of Music's Chicago Folk & Roots Festival, and chose the lucky raffle winner at the Neighborhood Boys and Girls Club's Family Fest.

"It's a wonderful privilege to meet with my neighbors and hear their thoughts, especially during these great Chicago summer festivals," said Quigley. "No matter how much time I spend in Washington, my community is where I truly feel at home."

Rep. Quigley speaks with John Manilow, owner of John's Place, during Roscoe Village's Burgerfest

Right: Quigley, blindfolded, while unveiling the $10,000 Affleurinnequest Family Fest