CHICAGO— On Sunday, July 4, U.S. Representative Mike Quigley (D-IL) visited the Auschwitz-Birkenau Memorial and Museum in Poland, where he laid a wreath in front of the execution wall.

“It was a truly humbling experience to see in person a place that witnessed such human suffering and loss of life,” Quigley said. “It was in my parents’ lifetime that hundreds of thousands of Jews, Gypsies, homosexuals, and the mentally and physically handicapped met their end here. The sadness has not dissipated and the overwhelming sense of sorrow is still palpable. I left with a renewed commitment to the future of the state of Israel and a far more complete understanding of what it means to never forget what happened inside those walls.”
